Adrienne Freeman studied music at Royal Holloway, University of London. Following this, she trained as a Music Therapist at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama in the mid-1980s. She currently works alongside Alison in a team specialising in the mental health of older people. She enjoys playing the Violin in a range of ensembles, ranging from chamber groups to full symphony orchestras. Hobbies include reading, tandem bicycle rides and walking.

Alison Gabriel began playing the violin at the age of nine and has enjoyed playing non-professionally in a variety of orchestras and other groups since then. She trained as a Music Therapist at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama in the mid-1990's and now specialises in working with people who have dementia. Prior to training as a Music Therapist, Alison worked as a Social Worker. Her hobbies include live theatre, singing, yoga and walking.

John Woodhall studied the Violin and Piano at the Royal College of Music and Trinity College of Music. He furthered his studies at Kingston University specialising in Piano accompaniment and Composition. His long teaching career combined both playing and composing music. He has had a long association with All Souls, Langham Place where he led the All Souls Orchestra. He has a son, daughter and three grandchildren. Hobbies include gardening, cake decoration and sugarcraft.

As you leave, a retiring collection is invited for Oracle Head and Neck Cancer UK (info@oraclehnc.org.uk) whose vision is to improve patient quality of life. Half of the collection will be donated to Aldenham Church.
